Table format css template

Tables are one of the most common items used in almost all websites. But it is also one of the most commonly overlooked element while developing a website. Until a necessity comes, we will not remember that we have to add a table. We on this list have compiled some of the best CSS table templates that you can easily customize and can use it in your existing website or ongoing projects. CSS table is a broad category, the tables are used for different purposes. Its main purpose is to display a list of data. If you make a table template for a statistics-rich web site, make sure you have a horizontal and vertical highlight setting. In this CSS table template list, we've also included templates that have highlighting and scrolling options. Another kind of table templates that have been widely used are pricing tables. In this list we have also included templates for price tables. All these CSS table templates use the latest CSS3 version so you get more natural colors and responsive animation effects. Here are the simple and stylish CSS table templates you can use on your website and application. Fixed column table It is not always possible to display all data and statistics in a single table. We need to provide scrolling options to help users see the entire record. Well, this CSS table template gives you this option out of the box. As the name suggests, it has a fixed main column, and all other related fields can be scrolled horizontally. The developer has given you ample space in the column to add even longer content without any problems. Because this template uses HTML5 and CSS3 frames, you get more natural colors and mobile responsive table. If you need to add more rows, you can easily add it, this table template can handle it. Info/Download Demo Fast Header Table Fast Header Table is a package of five CSS table templates. With this package, you get different color options and style options, making this table package unique. All the five variants have fixed header and of course you get a vertical scrolling option. Another fun part of this table package is you get a dark themed table to satisfy black color enthusiasts. All templates don't have a column border, so you'll have plenty of room to add longer content. At the same time, the column adjusts itself so that you don't get a clunky look with this table template. Info/Download Demo Table With Vertical & Horizontal Highlight When there is a cluster of data, it is always difficult to locate a value. If you are a data analyst spending most of your time in Excel sheets, you will know how hard it is to find a value, you need to check rows and columns quite often. The developer of this table template gave us a solution to this problem using interface design. This template highlights the column and row you hover over so you can easily cross-check it Value. It's a minor thing, but when you do lots of excel work, this this option will save a lot of your time. As a package, the developer gives you six table templates, all six have different designs. Since this template uses latest HTML5 and CSS3 frames you get more modern looking templates, even you get a table template with a gradient color scheme in this package. Info / Download Demo Responsive Table V1 Responsive Table V1 is a simple table template. As the name suggests, it's a responsive table template. So you can add any number of tables and columns, the table will adjust automatically. To differentiate each row, use white and gray pattern. This template uses HTML5 and CSS3 frameworks, editing and working with this template will be an easy task for developers. This template does not support scrolling options. If you need one, you can use CSS table templates with scrolling options mentioned above. For the demo purpose, gradient color background is used based on your design needs that you can customize, or you can use the table alone on your site. Info /Download Demo Responsive Table V2 Responsive Table V2, as the name suggests it is another version of the responsive table template mentioned above. This template is also from the same creators of the version a template mentioned above. The version two template is a simple and clean looking template, on the neat white background, the texts are legible and easy to read. Pointer effects help you identify which field you are currently viewing. Like most other free CSS table templates mentioned above, this one also uses a limitless design for columns. Since the fields adjust smartly you don't have to worry about overlapping texts and miss the customization. Overall version two template is a clean and easy to use table template that fits well with all types of websites. Info/ Download Demo Pure CSS Table Highlight Pure CSS table highlight is another vertical and horizontal highlight table template. However, with this template, you only get one template. The code used to create this awesome looking table is shared with you directly by the creator. Because the developer used the codepen interface, you can watch a live preview while editing the template. For the demo purpose, the developer just created a 5x5 table, but you can add as many rows and columns as you want. To distinguish the heading section for the rest of the cells, a dark highlighter is used based on the color scheme, you can easily customize the skin of this table template. Unfortunately, this template is not a table template that can be scrolled if you need a template you need to manually scroll it. If you just need a static table template then you can this table template as such without changes. Info /Download Demo Bootstrap Table Template Bootstrap DataTable template has a colorful and functional table design. The use of light and dark color alternatively makes the interaction easier for the user. All the basic elements are there in this and all of them are located in appropriate places; places; users can easily navigate the entire table. The entire code script is shared with you on the JSFiddle editor; you can edit and visualize the results on the code editor itself. Info / Download Demo Add Rows to Table If you want a table with the ability to easily add and delete rows, this CSS table template may be handy for you. With the click of a button, you can quickly add a row and also delete it. The creator has kept the row adding and deleting the action as simple as possible, so the uses will find the table easy to operate. All you need to keep in mind in this template is that two default rows cannot be deleted. You can change this by adjusting the code slightly. Info/Download Demo Responsive Table CSS As the name suggests, responsiveness is the main highlight of this CSS table template code script. Design-wise, the creator has kept the design very simple and neat. The use of shadow effects to highlight the rows is a thoughtful touch. Users can easily read and interact with the table entries. Plus, since it is a responsive table CSS design, access to the table on the small screen devices will be an easy task. This template code script is pure and simple, just like its design; therefore, using this code script will be an easy task for the developers. Info/Download Demo Fast Table Header Fixed Table Header, as the name suggests this template is a vertical scroll one. With the fresh gradient color scheme, this table matches the trendy website design practice. Thanks to the latest CSS3 framework to make colors look more natural and animations sleek. The only small bummer with this template is it does not support hovering power out of the box. Font choices are also done nicely on this template, the texts are easy and also easy to read. It can be difficult to identify which field you last saw. Apart from that, the fixed table heading is a fully functional CSS table template from the front end. By keeping this template as a base, you can create your own custom tables in no time. Info / Download Demo David Kern HTML5 Table Not all tables have the same sections and rows. Sometimes we have to make subdivisions under the main section. If you have any special table designs like that, CSS table templates like these will come in handy for you. Except for the unique section, this table template has no interactive elements or pointer effects. Like the design, the code structure of this table design is also simple and clean. Since this design is only made using HTML5 and CSS3 script, you can easily work with this template and add the features you want. Info / Download Demo Simple Table Concept Developer Sdnhik has provided a single table design in this example. The clean design of this table makes it a good option for mobile application board displays as well. Alternate light and dark row colors clearly distinguish between each row record. Plus, it avoids the use of table grids and makes the table look bulky on the small display units. An action button and a bounce button appear in the default design. Since it is a front-end concept, the creator has not concentrated on functionalities. By keeping this design as a base, you can create your own custom table in less time. Info/Download Demo Dynamic Background Tiles If you make tables to handle large data and let the user easily understand the categories, CSS table templates like this will be a good option. In this example, the creator has used gradient color schemes and provided a key at the bottom that specifies the assigned fractile for each color. Therefore, users can easily understand the category from the color cell color itself. The creator has not provided any opportunities to change the colors and enter any value. So you have to work alone to make it a really dynamic table. Info/Download Demo Flat University Schedule As the name suggests, it's a flat style table template. The creator has used classic design effectively to create a user-friendly table. Pointer effects are cleverly used to provide tooltips and short notifications. If you like to make tool path acquisitions even more engaging, take a look at our CSS design collection tooltip. Since it is a schedule concept, different colors are used effectively to organize related content. If your needs are less or you have a fixed schedule for all weeks of the month, tables like this will be a good choice. Info/Download Demo Responsive Table Responsive Table has given you a nice modern table. Colors and neat styles are effectively used to present the content nicely to the user. Because this table is intended to manage user data, you have room to add the user's profile picture to a column. All elements of this template are made for design purposes only, so you can't interact with them. You can take the front-end code and use it as a base to create your own custom table. Since it is a responsive table, your mobile-responsive design work will be much easier with this template. Info/Download Demo edged material table from the very name you can understand that this is a material design-based table. The creator of this template has provided useful features like sorting and search options. An ample amount of space is given between each column, so you have no need to worry about long texts. But it is better to add automatically adjust the character to the table. The developer has shared the entire code used to create this material design table. Therefore, you can easily work with this design and tune it as per your needs. Apart from the sorting and search options, this table also has a pagination option, so you can concentrate on other features you need in your table. The entire code structure used to create this design is shared with you in the CodePen editor. Therefore, you can customize and view your work in the editor before you implement it on your website. Info/Download Demo Slick Tables Slick Tables has a nice colorful table design, but it doesn't have useful options that you've seen in the angular tables mentioned above. It has basic options like hover highlighter and neat segmentations. Even you have the option to dampen the data that has expired. If you make a table that displays real world data, CSS table templates like this will come in handy for you. For dynamic content management and easy data handling, we have created a separate post for the Bootstrap Data table. Take a look at it to find tables that have useful options and even chart design to visualize data. Info/Download Demo Comparison Table This one is actually a pricing table comparison design. The long table design allows you to add all the important options so that the user can easily compare the plans before choosing one. This template even allows you to easily highlight and display the best plan to the user.
